3 Martin Farrelly Manager Access Point
Invited to talk to group by Alison Gray. Martin gave an interesting talk to the group about the changes to the Care Act and how the provision of care has changed over the years, mainly down to funding reasons. Nowadays those who require a care package are given a payment and are required to manage their own care packages. Everyone is entitled to be assessed for a care package however they must meet with the following requirements — have issues with hygiene, nutrition, safety within their home, issues with mobility. Must fulfill two of these requirements to get help. Concerns about people getting help required. Staff are now working more closely with GP's. it has been realised that the community and hospital need to work more closely and it is acknowledged that face to face support is required rather than being assessed and supported through a call centre. Work is ongoing and always room for change and improvements to the service.
